A Toy Story

Joel Boblit took his childhood passion for Transformer action figures and transformed it into a seven-figure business. The 1999 graduate launched BigBadToyStore.com in the fall of 1999 with the help of his brother, Dan. The business specializes in action figures including Transformers, Power Rangers, GI Joe, and Star Wars figures, which are not found in regular retail stores. In 2003 Joel moved the business from his parents' garage to a 12,000-square-foot warehouse in the Somerset Industrial Park in Somerset, Wis. A repeat customer reward system and a separate distribution Web site for bulk buyers is in Joel's future business plans. The secret for an individual or small group to succeed? Be passionate, honest, and prompt, says Joel, and be willing to put in what can sometimes be insane hours to get the business up and running and running smoothly.
